Developer balks at $500 costs assessed by OMB

A decision as to who is responsible for the $500 in costs assessed against the township by the Ontario Municipal Board following a hearing March 10 was left hanging following a meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council.

The hearing chairman had assessed that amount against the township application for approval for a zoning change, which would have allowed a trailer park development on property near Bat Lake. The development and by-law change had been requested by Virginia and Joe Gentle.

The OMB hearing chairman described the application as "unnecessary" as his reason for assigning the costs to the township.

Joseph Gentle, who appeared before the council April 8, said he did not feel he was responsible for the extra charges. He pointed out that the zoning change was rejected because the township's by-law was at fault, not his proposed development. Gentle said the township had been negligent in not knowing what would be required for the hearing and for having a zoning by-law which he described as "antiquated".

Members of the council have commented in the past that the township's zoning by-law was out of date and had been the reason for a number of adverse decisions by the OMB. Plans were made at the March meeting of the council to have a total review of the by-law started with the view to updating the entire document. That action was obviously too late for this hearing.

Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard, who chaired the meeting as Reeve Lloyd Walker is on holidays in Florida for a month, told Gentle that he did not feel the municipality was responsible for the entire cost.

Councillor Ed Pergolas pointed out that the municipality was acting on the developer's behalf when it enacted changes to the zoning bylaw. "If that is the case," Gentle said, "then the municipality should be prepared to defend itself in an OMB hearing." Gentle had appeared on his own behalf at the hearing. He stated that he hadn't expected the hearing to be a formal court, but rather informal.

In the past the municipality has allowed developers to appoint a lawyer, at the developer's expense, to represent the municipality at such hearings. A tacit understanding appears to have existed whereby the developer, who desires to change a zoning by-law, would provide these services to further his own efforts.

Gentle said he was "bitter" about the entire procedure and requested time to "think it over" before accepting any responsibility for the $500 costs assessed by the OMB.

Councillor Lyle McKnight commented that the rezoning application was "lost" when the developer arrived without a lawyer. He noted that the objectors "picked holes" in the application and township by-law and the hearing chairman also did not look favourably upon the application.

Suggests committee

Prior to discussing the responsibility for the $500 costs, Gentle suggested a number of procedures to the councillors to ensure that future developments are not so easily defeated.

Gentle proposed that developers be provided with guidelines from the Ontario Municipal Board to assist in presenting their case, that a local planning committee be established to assess developments before they are approved by the council or are taken to the OMB for consideration. He also suggested that all members of the council should attend the OMB hearings so they can defend the provisions of the by-law if they are questioned. Several members of the council noted they were in attendance when this development was considered, but that no opportunity was given for them to speak in favour of the proposal.

Gentle said he was concerned about the future of development in the township, "if developments like these keep running into stumbling blocks placed in the way by a few cottagers."

Pritchard and McKnight agreed with the need for a planning committee to screen development applications, however, they also pointed out that this committee would only be an advisory body to

The hard hats were in evidence Wednesday evening, but were hardly needed as members of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors faced very few of their members in a roast. Manager Bob Stinson addresses the audience while Chamber president Jim McLean and past president John Hogg, are on the right. For more on the roast, see the story on page three.

BIA board appointed

The board of management for the Minden Business Improvement Area (BIA) has been appointed by Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council. The appointment was made in a by-law enacted at the April 8 meeting.

Following the instructions of the Ontario Municipal Board, merchants favouring and opposing the establishment of the BIA have been named to the board. Selected from those in favour of the BIA were Stu Brandon, Gord Monk, and Jerry Pillsworth. Those who were opposed to

Opposition to metric growing

Opposition to the imposition of the metric system in Canada is thriving in Minden and Haliburton County.

That fact was borne out this past week when a petition placed at the Brown Owl Restaurant opposing the conversion, has attracted 167 signatures in just four days. A number of similar petitions are circulating in Haliburton Village as well.

The document was started last week as the result of a plea contained in MP Bill Scott's column in this newspaper and the Haliburton Echo. In that column the local MP said that the federal government is attempting to introduce further metric regulations by Orders in Council. Using this route, the federal government has avoided having the matter brought to the floor of the House of Commons and the criticism of the opposition. Scott urged his readers to write to him and Andre Ouellet, the Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs to express their dissatisfaction. Scott said he hoped the weight of public opinion would force the government to bring the matter to the House of Commons for debate.

Carol Miles at the Brown Owl, said that many of those signing the petition were opposed to the method the government was using to impose the metric system on the country. She said she will be sending the document to the local MP at the end of the next week so that he has it before April 28.

In the meantime, the petition will be available at the restaurant for those wishing to register their dissatisfaction with the way the federal government is implementing the new system of measurement.

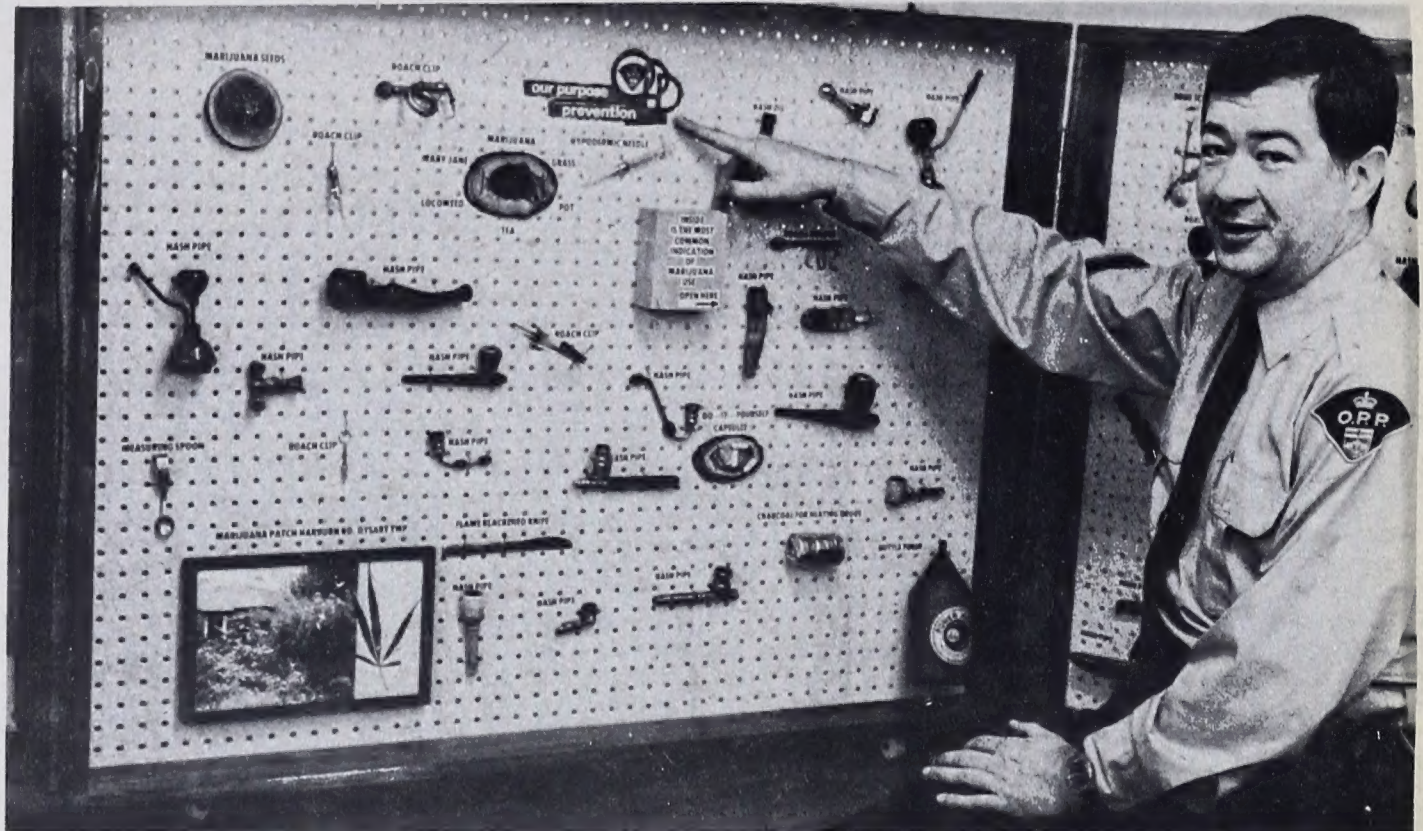

These raqueteers from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, are members of the Badminton team which qualified for the Central Ontario Secondary School Association finals to be played this week. Those who lead their division could be taking part in the all-Ontario championship later this spring in Kapuskasing. Team members, seen here with their coach Frank Wallace, are, from the left, front row, Marla McNaul, Signe Tashlin, Pam Iles, Miriam Vanderwal and Paul Vuksic. Back row, Wendy Ballantyne, Tara Davies, Heather Kennedy, Andrew Shapiera, Paul Mayo, Tim Wood and coach Wallace.

The dope on dope

Community services officer with the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, Gary Chapman, has prepared a display board on drugs and drug paraphernalia. The items are those the police have confiscated in the county.

Constable Chapman uses the display as an informational and educational tool for parents. In an effort to make adults more aware of the seriousness of the drug problem he is prepared to discuss the problem with parent groups and others in the county. The constable can be reached at the local OPP office.

the BIA and who will be on the board include Ron Wrightman, Bob MacBrien and Joe Shapiera. One representative of township council, Ed Pergolas, will also be a member of the Board of Management.

The group has scheduled its first meeting for next Tuesday evening at the firehall. The meeting will be open to those merchants within the BIA which stretches from Wrightman Realty to Dr. John Purc's office on the Bobcaygeon Road and from the Brewer's Retail Store on South Water Street to the bridge.

Originally the meeting was scheduled to take place at 7 p.m. That has been changed to 8 p.m., contrary to the notices sent to the merchants within the BIA.

It is likely the first meeting will deal with routine matters such as the naming of a chairman and vice chairman, secretary and treasurer. Other housekeeping matters will also have to be dealt with before the board gets down to the main purpose of the organization, the promotion and improvement of the core area.

the council and that the council would ultimately be responsible for any application to the OMB. Pritchard also noted that the county council is currently considering the possibility of hiring a planner for the area. This person, he pointed out, could be of assistance in presenting evidence before the OMB.

New slant for pad

The outer lip of the concrete pad on which Minden's new library now rests will be ground down so water will run away from the base of the log structure instead of towards it. The decision to undertake the process was made by Minden Township council following a secret meeting April 8.

The decision of the council was recorded in the minutes issued following the meeting. According to the minutes the cement pad which extends out from the base of the building will be ground down to give it a two inch slant away from the structure.

Following the grinding process the cement pad will be resealed.

The decision to slant the concrete follows a number of problems with the new building including the fact that water has been seeping under the base log of the building and running across the interior floor. The cement pad on which the structure is built extends out from the base three feet or more and has been catching water dripping off the roof or rain driven against the wall by wind. Council apparently hopes the grinding down of the extending pad will eliminate any further leakage.

Tenders opened

Tenders for interior and exterior finishing of the new library were opened at the April 8 meeting of the council. Two bids were received. CM Construction offered to carry out the necessary work for $4510 while the bid from Doug Tedford was $1700.

Gino Ziorjen, a member of the library-cultural centre committee, will be asked to examine the bids and make a recommendation to the council.

More fizz than sizzle

Close to 40 county residents were on hand to roast the Chamber of Commerce at a special gathering Thursday at PineStone. Unfortunately the event had more fizz than sizzle.

While the members of the audience raised a number of interesting points, there was little to give the members of the board of directors a new sense of direction or purpose. If anything the roast proved that either the members are satisfied in general with the job the Chamber is doing or those same individuals simply don't care and are content to let the directors carry on.

The points raised by the audience dealt with a relatively minor concern, such as the method of assessing membership dues...the meeting was told there are 19 different categories of fees charged.

One member wanted to know why more businesses were not members of the Chamber. It was suggested that there are an additional 150 potential members in the county but no concrete evidence was tendered to substantiate that figure nor how they might be attracted to join the organization.

A lodge owner told the gathering that he thought it was the Chamber's duty to entice potential visitors to the county and once here, the various tourist operators could then attempt to lure them to their establishments. He claimed that six or seven lodges had closed within the last ten years and questioned how the Chamber could justify cutting its promotion budget at such a time.

A Minden merchant described the Chamber as a self-help organization design to return to its members as many potential customers as possible. "I'm willing to give you as much money as you (the Chamber) can give me back in increased business," he commented.

Many of the questions the Chamber directors had to face were related to the organization's budget. More often than not the directors told the audience that the funds to promote the county were just not available and any increased effort will have to be matched by greater funds from members, or the local government.

One member of the audience suggested the Chamber had not convinced the county council that it could properly carry out the promotion of the Highlands when manager Bob Stinson made his budget appeal to that body in February. "You must convince the politicians you can do it before they will give you the money," he commented.

County Warden Murray Fearrey told the meeting the Chamber did not receive all it asked for from the county because the councillors had "other priorities" to take into consideration. He noted the Chamber receives the highest rate of contribution from the county council than any other county in the province provides. "There is no magic tax base here to be tapped," he commented.

Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman expressed concern about the poor representation from the eastern portion of the county on the board of directors. He indicated this lack of representation had fostered a feeling of alienation on the part of many merchants in that part of the township.

Roastmaster Bill Payne fielded the questions from the audience directing them to the members of the board. Before the evening ended he drew a comment on the Chamber from just about everyone in attendance. But by the time those in attendance returned to the wine and cheese tables in the hallway, it was questionable whether the Chamber's directors had any better idea of what the members wanted them to do.

A variety of targets

If nothing else, this week's vehicle accident report from the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police provided a variety of targets for area cars. In one instance a pick-up truck ran into a tree, in another two cars collided, while in a third incident a car struck a deer.

The driver of a 1969 model pick-up truck and his 19 year old passenger were treated for minor injuries April 7 after their vehicle slammed into a tree on Dover Spring Road near Haliburton. David Holster, 24, of Pickering was the driver of the truck which left the right side of the road. The passenger was Peter Wilson of Dysart Township.

Both were treated at Haliburton Red Cross Hospital and released. Their injuries were described as not being serious.

Police have estimated the damage to the truck at $2200.

A charge of careless driving has been laid against Holster while the passenger was charged with failing to wear a seat belt.

Constable Boyd Jarvis investigated the mishap.

Two cars

A charge of driving left of the centre line and operating a motor vehicle without a licence has been laid against David Johnson, 18, of R.R. 2 Haliburton. Johnson was the driver of a vehicle which collided with a second car driven by Laurie Thibadeau, 17, of Dysart Township. The April 11 collision took place on Highway 121 near the Haliburton Highlands High School.

Johnson received minor injuries in the mishap.

Damage to the Johnson car was estimated at $600 while the Thibadeau vehicle sustained $1500 damage.

The mishap was investigated by Constable Terry

Brown.

Car and deer

Minden Township Councillor Lyle McKnight was the driver of a car which struck a deer April 11 on Highway 35 north of Buttermilk Falls.

Damage to the 1975 Mercury was estimated at $1200. The animal was killed in the collision.

Investigation was carried out by Constable Boyd Jarvis.

Office moves

The store-front OPP office in Haliburton Village was moved earlier this week and is now located beside the former Candlewood Gift Shop. Officers will be in the office from time to time to discuss problems with Haliburton and area residents and to establish a greater police presence in that community.

Stores connected for easy access

While several stores have changed hands recently in downtown Minden, some interesting changes have also been taking place at the Minden Country Mall.

Owned by Joe and Eileen Shapiera, the mall which used to have a number of different outlets, has been opened inside so shoppers can wander from one store to another.

Jadek Sport Goods, with its line of men's wear, still occupies the north end of the building, however a ladies jeans and casual wear outlet, under the name of Jeans and More, has been added. From there the customers can walk into the Shoes and Leather portion of the mall which occupies two units. The shoe store will have a special running shoe section added later this year.

Opening of the interior to allow access between stores took place over the past few months, and, according to Joe Shapiera, the mall will be receiving a complete facelift, inside and out, in the near future.

The latest addition to the mall, in a unit which is separate from the other retail outlets, is the arcade at the south end of the building. The arcade, already a popular spot, features a number of pin ball machines and electronic games.

The public should know

Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council has taken action to end the leaking under the bare logs at the new library-cultural centre. The council plans to hire a grinding machine which will slant the outer lip of the cement pad away from the building. Rain and water dripping from the building's roof will then run away from the building, not toward it.

The plan is a sensible solution.

The only flaw in this plan is the method by which the council decided it was the right one. The decision was made in secret, behind closed doors. Since the public was excluded there is no way of knowing if there are other, less expensive solutions. The public is also in the dark as to what their elected representatives had to say about the plan or the alternatives.

The new library-cultural centre has not been a building without its problems. In more than a few instances it has been a source of headaches for the local council. But at no time during its difficult birth has the centre been anything other than a public building. Likewise, the funds to erect the structure, while coming from a large number of sources, have in the main been public in the form of taxes, contributions, Wintario dollars and more.

The property owners in Anson, Hindon and Minden have elected the local council to manage the tax dollars. They deserve to know what the council is doing with that money and why. Council should respect this right and carry on the township's business in public where it should be.

Vital meetings

A meeting which could be the first step in the evolution of the two Red Cross hospitals in the Highlands will be held April 22 at PineStone Inn. Called by the District Health Council, the meeting is expected to appoint a committee to oversee the withdrawal of the Canadian Red Cross Society from administration of the hospitals in Haliburton and Minden.

Important questions will have to be answered in the next few years. The answers will not be found easily but they are important to ensure the continued vitality of both institutions.

Those concerned with the provision of health care services in the county should make every effort to attend.

Twilight on the Gull

Report from Parliament

by William C. Scott, M.P.

Two federal government programs announced by my office in recent months have attracted considerable public interest, particularly among home-owners and small businesspeople, but both programs have been bogged down in legislative and administrative delays.

The two programs are the Canadian Oil Substitution Program, also known as "off-oil", and the Small Business Development Bond program (SBDB).

While both programs have now been approved (SBDB received Royal Assent on February 26) the Small Business Development Bond program has not been widely enough advertised, and the off-oil program continues to be wracked by confusion.

Initially, the oil conversion program was to be an arrangement between the federal government and the provinces. Public utilities in each province would distribute literature and application forms.

Starting date for mailing out grant cheques was to have been April 1, 1981, but this date has been changed to "about the first week in May."

Last Friday the federal department of Energy, Mines and Resources announced another turn-around in the program. The provinces will not be involved in administering the program. According to the announcement, "the entire program will be administered by Ottawa."

Two different reasons, from different sources, have been advanced by way of explanation for the change. One is that the federal government has had some difficulty in finalizing arrangements with some of the provinces.

The other reason given is that, if the provinces distribute literature and application forms, some people might feel that the provincial governments are also paying the grants, and Ottawa wants to make sure that it receives all the credit.

The oil conversion program, unless further changes are made, will provide for grants to homeowners, tenants, businesses and public institutions who convert from oil to another (renewable energy) fuel for heating. The grant will cover half the cost of conversion, up to a maximum of $800.00.

The Small Business Development Bond program was given Royal Assent on February 26, and is now law. There is some confusion though as to what the monies raised on these bonds can be used for.

Basically, SBDB loans can be used for purchase of property "that is specified property of the corporation", and for "qualified expenditures." The Bill creating SBDB does not give enough in the way of explanation as to what those terms mean, and a full explanation should be published by the government to assist both bankers and clients in understanding the program.

The SBDB bill also states that such monies can be used to purchase vehicles, but only where such vehicles will be used to carry passengers for hire. Another interesting feature is that SBDB monies can be used by firms that are in receivership to pay off creditors where an arrangement exists that has been approved by a court under the Bankruptcy Act.

Loans can be obtained under the SBDB program in amounts ranging from $10,000 to $500,000, and the repayment period is not less than one year nor more than five years. No special application form is required. A normal loan arrangement is made, and the bank identifies it as an SBDB loan.

The interest rate for SBDB is half the prime interest rate, plus about two per cent for administrative costs. All recognized lending institutions (chartered banks, trust companies, credit unions, etc.) may make an election under the SBDB program, and it can take the form of a "bond, debenture, bill, note, mortgage, hypothec or other similar obligation."

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

A warm southerly breeze licks at the last few patches of snow. Spring is busting out all over! A wetland excursion to the Bruce Peninsula turned up all sorts of old friends - woodcock on their dancing grounds, snipe and a thoughtful muskrat in a greening marsh, and turkey vultures and tree swallows wheeling overhead.

The birds are early this year, and so are the wildflowers. Joe Johnson, whose knowledge of the natural history of the Bruce is little short of encyclopedic, reports that for the first time hepaticas are in bloom in the month of March this year. Traditionally among the first of spring bloomers, the pastel white, pink or blue flowers of the hepatica poke through the floor of the hardwood forest long before its three-lobed leaves appear.

Soon to follow will be a cascade of spring flowers. The golden profusion of marsh marigolds along cool streambanks; the showy trilliums in white or red; the graceful trout lilies and pink-striped spring beauties; the white bloom of bloodroot peeking shyly above its clasping leaf. Each of the wildflowers has its own specialized habitat and its own special appeal. For each, we make the same gentle plea - enjoy, but please don't destroy.

Most of us are aware that picking a spring flower usually means the end of that plant. Some wild plants, such as the trout lily, take up to seven years before blooming. Others, such as the trillium, cannot restore their food supply if the leaves are picked. In any case, when you remove the flower, you remove the source of seeds for future generations. A spring bouquet if you must, but limit yourself to only a few flowers from a large clump, and leave the roots undisturbed. Better still, fashion your bouquet

AN Easter Message

A wasted life?

This message for the Easter celebration was prepared by Reverend Rick Brewster of the Allsaw Pentecostal Church.

Very often we evaluate life in terms of length of years and tend to think that it is wasted if it is not lived out to its full length. Any who have known the agony of seeing a young life taken at an early stage, perhaps can identify with this. But the quality that makes life successful can only be measured in terms of its permanency.

Jesus, the greatest person to ever live, died at what would seem like a very early age. I'm sure to so many whom His life touched it seemed to be such a waste. If you and I could go back over the centuries and talk to the man who was blind from birth and hear him tell how Jesus gave sight to his eyes, he would have nothing but good to speak of Him. The man who was once a beggar could now function in a normal life. One who had never known what it is to see a sunset light the sky on fire, or know the beauty of a flower, could see for the first time in his life. His joy and thanks to Jesus would have been beyond words I'm sure.

And then there was the man who was a leper. What a dread disease! People would have nothing to do with such a one for fear of being contaminated. They would not only cross over to the other side of the street; they wouldn't even let him into the town. Coupled with the pain of rejection was the agony of the disease itself. Too sick to earn a living, too despised to beg; for such a one, it would only be a matter of time until he would starve to death, die from the disease, or from rejection and lack of love. But Jesus touched him and made him well.

Do you remember the widow lady who had lost her only son? The details are not given as to how her husband died, but it would seem apparent that all of her life dreams and all that she loved had just slipped out of this life. Hopelessness and despair now plagued her heart, perhaps she didn't even want to live another day herself; but then Jesus came by and saw her desperation. He always seemed to notice those who were in need. He took the time to get involved, and brought the boy back to life again. What an incredible thing; who ever would have imagined He could do such a thing. Nothing further in the scripture is stated about this family, but I imagine this little woman could write a book about the One who put hope where there was no hope, and life where there was no life.

There was another lady who would have had words of praise for Jesus. She was one who was in an affair with another man. No mention is made of him; somehow he avoided the issue and left her to face the brunt of the shame and disgrace by herself. Not only was there the turmoil of the mental anguish and public ridicule, but in those days it was customary to stone to death such a person. It was a hopeless situation for her. And here is Jesus thrust into the middle of this messy circumstance. When He looked at this helpless woman, He saw her through the eyes of compassion. Then He spoke to the crowd about their thought life in comparison to this woman's deed. They all dropped their stones one by one and melted away. Jesus had given her not just a new chance at life, but a new life to go with that chance.

Yes, I'm sure to so many it would have seemed like such a waste of a life. But in reality His work is still going on for He rose from the dead three days after that awful death.

The focus of Easter is not on the cross, but on the empty tomb. Many live out their full length of years but waste the time they do have on so many foolish pursuits in life. He is alive today to make each of our days full of worth. He still gets involved in peoples' desperate situations. Just as in the days when He walked upon this earth, there were those who loved Him, and those who crucified Him. The difference was whether or not they knew Him.

To know the real meaning of Easter, get to know Jesus. When you see what He can do, I'm sure you'll agree His life was not wasted.

A most memorable Easter service

by Irene Stewart

The first time I met my husband's mother was on an Easter weekend in 1934.

Sandy Stewart and I had been keeping company for several years so he decided it was high time I met his mother who lived in Stouffville, about twenty-five miles from Toronto where I was living. Sandy was working in the Bank of Nova Scotia at Pape and Danforth Avenues in Toronto and in those days had to work on Saturday mornings as all bank clerks did.

With Easter Monday off, we decided to drive to Stouffville on the Saturday afternoon and stay until Easter Monday night. This was a memorable occasion for me for which I purchased a smart Oxford-gray suit, a good pair of black kid pumps, a highstyle black Breton sailor and a silver fox stole. Since it was a special occasion for Sandy also, he bought me a delicate white gardenia for my lapel. The entire ensemble gave me a good feeling about being suitably and stylishly dressed.

Drive to Uxbridge

On Saturday evening we had a good homecooked dinner and spent the evening visiting his mother. Suddenly Sandy asked me, "What would like to do tomorrow?"

Quickly I replied, "I'd like to drive up to Uxbridge to take my Easter communion in St. Paul's Anglican Church where I was christened and confirmed."

Without hesitation he said, "I don't know what the roads will be like. There's plenty of mud between here and Uxbridge at this time of year, especially in the low spots near Goodwood, but I'm willing to try. We'd better get an early start just in case."

Wore Easter finery

We did. I didn't spend long getting into my Easter finery complete with my exquisite gardenia. Much as I hated to, I decided to forego that extra fresh brown Easter egg gathered that morning from Stewart's henhouse. Everything was hunky-dory until we reached a huge mud hole not far on the other side of Goodwood. Nine cars were stuck in deep mud ahead of us.

What to do? We couldn't go ahead. Each time we tried to move ahead we sent a shower of mud every which way. Fortunately there were no cars behind us. It was too risky to try to turn around to go back but we couldn't waste time deciding because it was rapidly approaching eleven o'clock, church time.

As I watched other cars throwing mud around lavishly, I couldn't help thinking that, at least, I did get to wear my Easter finery even if no one else saw it but us two. Thank God we were inside the closed car for protection from the splashes from the muddy road. Finally we got turned around and headed back.

"Do you want to go to church in Stouffville," Sandy asked. Not wishing to show my disappointment I said, "We'll be a bit late but we may as well slip into the United Church since it's the closest."

Sanctuary filled

Being Easter Sunday the sanctuary was filled. We arrived at the door in the middle of the first hymn. An usher motioned for the folks in a rear pew to slide along a bit closer to make room for us. We were lucky to get a seat and not miss much of the service. A little ashamed of my vanity I thought, "I haven't wasted my new Easter outfit either!"

The music was lovely. None of the sad tunes of Lent and Good Friday could be heard. Nothing but joyous Easter anthems and hymns poured forth in perfect harmony. The minister read suitable lessons and offered suitable prayers for the glorious day of resurrection. I found myself taking a quick peek at the fine display of Easter hats, a bad habit of mine since childhood. Those were the days when a woman wouldn't dream of desecrating a church by not wearing a hat. Now the congregation would not even waste a glance at a hatless woman in church.

Pastor hits snag

My mind was soon brought back to the right time and place as the pastor began his sermon. He dwelt on the mystery and wonder of the resurrection. For example, he pointed out how a tiny seed buried in the ground all winter suddenly bursts its bonds and comes to life.

He stressed how one needed to have faith in God even if only as small as a grain of mustard seed and not be agnostic nor an atheist like the great Clarence - Clarence - Clarence - Clarence..... Here the poor man hit a snag. His mind had gone completely blank. He walked back and forth, back and forth, back and forth, trying to remember Clarence Who?

His face got redder and redder until I thought he'd choke. All eyes were on him expectantly. Embarrassment showed on every face, still the preacher tried vainly to remember the man's name, a noted criminal lawyer atheist.

I could stand it no longer. Before I could stop myself I blurted aloud "Darrow". Like a flash the reverend picked it up and went on quickly, "like the great Clarence Darrow."

Congregation turned and stared

On went the sermon but, I doubt if anyone in that congregation heard a word of it. They all turned and stared at me as though I had committed a heinous crime. I wanted to crawl under the seat but decided that I had done the minister a favor and so kept my place in the pew until the bitter end when we slipped quickly out the door and dashed for the muddy car. I have never had the nerve to enter that church again.

Festival fills the hall

The auditorium at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School was filled Thursday evening as the Scouts of the village presented the fifth annual Festival of Fun. The occasion brought together amateur and professional talent from throughout the county for an interesting and varied program.

The proceeds from the event will be donated to the Haliburton County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

A portion of the packed auditorium can be seen above while members of the Victoria Street School lift their voices in song, above right, and father and son Earl and Andy Cooper, offer a bagpipe duet.

Farm news & views

The weather in April can change very fast. As a result, you should be ready to take advantage of ideal conditions for spring fieldwork.

Planning ahead is the one advantage we have over the weather. If not already taken care of, the following should be considered. Choosing and ordering seed, fertilizer and herbicides; looking after machinery repair, planning spring tillage, and spreading manure.

If possible, manure should be applied and worked in before planting corn this spring. Remember that each tonne of manure contains at least four dollars worth of nitrogen, phosphorous and potash available for crops this year. This can add up to a real savings on high fertilizer costs.

If you are growing winter wheat, it should be topdressed with nitrogen as soon as possible, if you have not already done so. Up to 90 kgs. per ha., of actual nitrogen is recommended. Deduct the nitrogen applied when planted and the nitrogen supplied if a legume stand was plowed down last summer. One-third legume plowed down supplies 55 kgs. of nitrogen and one-half or more legume plowed down supplies all the nitrogen. The same values for legume plowed down applies to other crops to be planted this spring.

Winter grains, if well established, can compete against some weeds, however, winter annual weeds may be a problem. These weeds should be identified as soon as growth starts in the spring. Those weeds such as false flax, pepper - grass, and shepherd's purse should be sprayed while in the rosette stage as they become resistant to the herbicide at the flowering stage. The spray should be applied before the winter grain reaches 12 inches in height (extended leaf) to safeguard against crop injury.

Spring tillage

Primary tillage is used to incorporate residues, manure, fertilizer, kill weeds and loosen compacted soils to allow air and water to enter and the roots to develop. The main concern with primary tillage in the spring, is that fields should not be too wet. Frost action can correct plowing a field too wet in the fall, but if you do so in the spring, problems can occur such as excess cloddiness and compaction. Primary tillage in the spring should be shallow to prevent drying the soil out too deep.

Secondary tillage is used to prepare the seedbed by one or more of the following ways. Packing, loosening or smoothing the seed bed, breaking up clods, cutting trash and killing weeds. Secondary tillage can also be used to incorporate manure, fertilizer and herbicides. The disk will loosen the top 3-6 inches of soil, but will pack below that. If the soil is wet, compaction problems can result. A cultipacker will do an excellent job of breaking clods and firming the top 2-4 inches. It has little effect below that and therefore reacts almost opposite to the disk. Again, compaction problems can result if the soil is too wet. Cultivators loosen the soil, and harrows smooth the soil.

Manure test results

In late March the Victoria Soil and Crop Improvement Association had a manure testing project. 18 samples of solid cattle manure were taken from Victoria County farms and were tested at the lab in Guelph. The results from these tests are now back.

Several points are apparent from these results.

The first one is the large amount of difference which exists in the amount of plant food available in the manure from one farm to the next. For example, some farms had 75% more nitrogen than others; one farm had 4 times as much phosphorus and some farms had 3 times as much potash as others did.

The average test for these 18 manure samples was just a little higher than the provincial average figures which have been used for a number of years. However, some Victoria County farms were well above and some were way below this provincial average.

The manure on dairy farms was a little higher in nitrogen and phosphorus but was lower in potash content than manure from beef farms.

On some beef farms, the manure samples were taken from inside the barn, while on others the sample was from a pile in the yard. These piles were open to the weather and there was some run-off from the piles. In all cases, the manure in the barn was quite a bit higher in fertilizer value, especially for nitrogen and potash.

The purpose for testing a manure sample is to see how much plant food a farmer is adding to an acre of land when he spreads that manure. From our experience with this project, it is obvious that manure testing pays.

Council ponders 2 bids

A difference in insurance costs of $6100 will be investigated by the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council. The council conducted its annual insurance review at the last meeting and members were told that another company which provides insurance coverage for municipalities has offered to provide the identical coverage, to what the township is now receiving, for close to $6,000 less.

The difference in premium costs came to light after the council and a representative of Frank Cowan Insurance discussed the various aspects of the municipality's coverage. The township has been dealing with this company for a number of years. Insurance coverage for this year has been estimated to cost over $16,000.

After a review had been completed the meeting was told that a second company, Ontario Municipal and Education Insurance Brokers, of Toronto, had tendered a bid on similar coverage at $9750. The councillors were informed that the company is currently providing the coverage for Glamorgan Township but since the municipality has yet to make a claim against its policies, there was no indication of the service from the company.

Councillor Ed Pergolas noted that changing coverage to another company would probably mean local agents representing Frank Cowan would no longer be used. He suggested that a member of the council and the municipal clerk meet with a representative of Ontario Municipal to discuss the matter further.

Councillor Lyle McKnight

noted that at least one insurance company has run into financial problems in Ontario recently and therefore the council should carefully investigate before making any changes. He suggested that one reason the premium is so low is that Ontario Municipal would not be using a local agent. "I'd sooner have the municipality insured at a cost of $16,000, than to find out we're not insured at $9,000," McKnight commented. "We should be very careful".

Council briefs

The following items were discussed at the April 8 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township Council.

Art donation

A donation of $35 to the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts for their summer school program for 1981 was approved at the April 8 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township Council. The funds will be used to purchase scholarships for area students. These scholarships are awarded at the end of the school year in recognition of outstanding achievement in various arts. The scholarships allow the students to attend summer art courses sponsored by the Guild and the Haliburton School of Fine Arts.

Easter Seals

The council also approved a donation of $25 toward the Easter Seal Campaign fund for 1981.

Evacuation centre

The Minden Community Centre has been designated as an evacuation centre for residents of the Sunrise Senior Citizen Apartments. The designation of the centre was requested by the local housing authority.

In case of a fire or other emergency at the apartment complex, the residents are being instructed to gather at the Community Centre following evacuation.

Paintings insured

The insurance coverage for the township's collection of Andre Lapine paintings has been renewed with Linda Brandon Insurance of Minden. The coverage for the collection will cost $251 for the year.

Provincial standards

A resolution adopting the provincial standards in relation to property standards and occupancy has been endorsed by the council. The resolution was necessary to permit the municipality to take advantage of the Ontario Home Renewal Program.

This program allows local residents to borrow funds from the township to improve various aspects of their home. The terms of repayment and details as to who qualifies for the funding is established through a formula established by the provincial government, which also provides the funds for the municipality to administer. Anyone wishing more information about this program should contact the municipal office.

Minden shooter takes top prize

Minden marksman Jeff Lodenquai placed first in a .22 calibre pistol competition held earlier this month in Peterborough. Another local shooter, Ron MacKenzie, placed seventh in the same event.

The two members of the Haliburton County Marksmen Club were participating in the Canadian 900 match.

Each shooter is allowed 90 shots with a potential top score of 900 points.

Lodenquai managed a score of 804 to lead a field of 23 shooters. His handicap total was also top at 894.

The event was sponsored by the Peterborough Gun Club and held in that community April 5.

Home Support Services hosts health fair

The Haliburton County Home Support Services held the first of its 1981 workshops April 6, at the PineStone Inn. Over 100 people registered, coming from every corner of the County.

The all-day programme, entitled "Health Fair", began at 10 a.m., when Doris McCann, President of the HCHSS briefly summarized the theme of the workshop, and Jean Tyler introduced the morning's speakers.

Dental Hygiene was the first topic, on which Phyl Childs, a dental hygienist from Lindsay whose area of responsibility includes Haliburton County, spoke. She outlined the importance of good teeth to a person's general health, and the essentials of maintaining them, and their replacements as necessary, in a clean and sound condition: the three essentials, for mastication, for avoidance of bad breath, and for appearance.

The number one enemy, plaque, must be combatted by regular brushing of both natural and artificial teeth, and she demonstrated proper use of the toothbrush and of cleaning preparations - a soft brush and mild toothpaste for natural teeth, a hard brush and diluted household bleach for dentures.

She mentioned that expensive proprietary mouthwashes and denture cleaners are not necessary, salt, baking soda, and bleach doing an adequate job at less expense.

She offered to meet with any group in the area, to discuss dental hygiene, and to assist in applying the owner's name to dentures, if desired. She was thanked by Alberta Maitland.

Aileen Robertson introduced Leslie Orpana, a nutritionist. Leslie began by starting the audience by a simple demonstration that very few of those present had eaten a nutritionally adequate diet according to Canada's food guide on the preceding day.

She then showed an excellent film on the importance of good nutrition in the life of the elderly, and followed with a series of slides reinforcing the film's message, and demonstrating both what to eat, as chosen from the four main food groups of protein (meat, fish, eggs, cheese, beans, nuts), carbohydrates (bread, potatoes, rice, pasta), fruits and vegetables (especially citrus fruits and the dark green and yellow vegetables), and milk products. She fielded and answered a great many questions from the audience, and was released only by the dinner hour! She was thanked by Dorothy Robertson.

After an excellent dinner in the lovely bright dining room of the PineStone Inn, Doris McCann introduced Mrs. Evelyn Dalman of the Metro Toronto Community Care, who gave an interesting talk on the problems of the elderly and handicapped living in a large urban centre. The chief over-all impression was that the problems are much the same as in a rural area, but severity of the individual problems varies considerably. For instance, safety and security is a much greater anxiety to those in the city, but transportation is of greater concern in the country. Mrs. Dalman was thanked for her kindness in coming by Mary Hadley.

The day's programme concluded with some relaxing, but gentle, exercises led by Billy Shuyler, and a sing-song conducted by Marilyn Stouffer, with Marie Wallace at the piano.

Those attending the Health Fair commented on the valuable information presented and went home determined to follow up on the guidelines they learned.

(This report was prepared by HCHSS.)

Another barber shop to open

Minden Village will soon have another barber shop.

This latest hair cutting operation will be opening on South Water Street beside Campbell's Garden Centre and Flower Shop.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council approved the opening of the new shop after the owner, Bill Baker spoke to the April 8 meeting. Baker told the council that he had worked as a barber in Midland before moving here in November of last year. He said he felt the location was well suited to the use, noting that he planned to convert the attached garage into the barber shop area.

Township by-law enforcement officer Dick Schell told the council the use would not contravene any of the municipality's by-laws. However, he did suggest that additional parking be provided for two more vehicles, to alleviate any potential problems on the shoulder of the road.

The weather has been beautiful this past week and the residents of Hyland Crest have been taking walks around MacKayville in addition to taking part in the regular activities.

Monday morning a good number of people took part in the fun and fitness program. Later in the afternoon the ladies gathered in the craft room to busy themselves with their many different projects.

In the evening the movies were shown in the auditorium. "Picture Canada" was a film showing us our own beautiful land. We were made aware of the many opportunities offered in Canada and were told the history of our nation.

"Ceol" was a very interesting story about Willy Clancey and how his memory will live on in Ireland through his music. The Irish music featured in their film kept everyone interested and tapping their toes. Everyone who attended thoroughly enjoyed both movies.

Tuesday's Communion Service was held in the Chapel by Rev. George Elliot of Minden Anglican Church. As usual it was nice to have Agnes Taylor and Barbara Trociewicz provide the music for an inspiring service.

Tuesday afternoon several ladies went to the auditorium for a very enjoyable afternoon. Virginia Gentle who is a representative for Mary Kay Cosmetics spent the afternoon doing facials. Our ladies looked lovely and said their faces felt great after their facial. Everyone enjoyed a cup of tea and goodies together which ended the afternoon's fun. Our thanks to Virginia Gentle for taking time from her busy schedule to be with us.

Earl Cooper and Kathleen Owens provided some fine entertainment for Music Night. Our residents always enjoy their music and look forward to their visits.

Wednesday evening the games assistants from Haliburton High School turned out in full force to play crokinole, euchre and cribbage with our residents. Games night is becoming a very successful activity, thanks to our faithful volunteers.

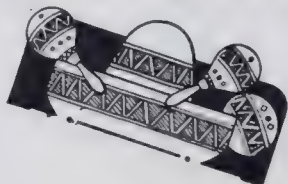

The ladies of Haliburton A.C.W. brought a delicious variety of cookies, squares and tea breads for the weekly tea party. Everyone enjoyed their visit and the tasty food.

Later in the evening eight of our residents went to Haliburton High School to the Festival of Fun. They thoroughly enjoyed the whole program which consisted of local talents. We heard the band and junior choir from the Haliburton Public School, the Legion Pipe Band and several very talented piano players. Carmen Peters, Don White and Lloyd Madill played some good old time music and everyone enjoyed the step-dancing by Carmen Peters. The Sour Notes from Ingoldsby accompanied by Nancy Picard ended the program with their talents. It was a very good program and those who went from Hyland Crest thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Special thank-you to Gerry Feltham who invited us and saved front row seats for us.

The activities for the week ended on Friday afternoon with the sing song. Ray Jenkins was here to play the piano for us. We sang some of our favorite songs and as always enjoyed Ray's lively piano music.

Letters from Lee

Lee Potter is a local high school student who is spending a year in Mexico as an exchange student. The visit is co-ordinated through Rotary International and her participation in the program is sponsored by the Minden Rotary Club. Lee has agreed to share some of her experiences south of the border with our readers through the letters she sends home to her family. The following are excerpts from a recent letter.

In my last letter I mentioned it had snowed in Saltillo. Well, about a week later it did again, only this time close to a foot of snow fell. The city came to a complete standstill. All school was cancelled for two days. Everywhere there were giant snowball fights. It was incredible downtown as one side of the street bombarded the other with snowballs. Some people even dropped huge snowballs from the tops of buildings.

On the top of almost every car was a snowman which made good targets for snowballs as they drove by. I've never seen a town have so much fun after a snowfall, everyone was outside playing in it.

The trees took a real beating, there were branches broken off everywhere because most of the trees still had their leaves and just couldn't stand up under the weight. It was ironic to see palm trees with snow on them.

I went to the school and became involved in a big snowball fight and then went for a drive through town with some friends. We drove to the large park downtown where everyone was hanging out. If your door didn't happen to be locked, someone on the sidewalk would try to open it and dump loads of snow and snowballs inside. They tried it where I was sitting but fortunately I was able to close the door before being buried in the snow.....

Each class at school had to nominate someone to be school queen. The selecting of a school queen is a very big thing here as after she is chosen she is expected to represent the school at innumerable functions. Guess who was chosen from my classyes, me. I doubt if I will be selected queen but it will be interesting to participate in the contest.

Green Thumb corner

Now that the last vestiges of the winter snow has melted away, the true condition of the front lawn is painfully obvious to the owner and everyone who passes by. Getting a lawn back into shape for the summer season requires careful attention to detail, in some cases the application of fertilizers and weed control agents, and a liberal dose of elbow grease. To help you plan your attack, J.L. Eggers, of the Department of Horticultural Science at the University of Guelph offers the following suggestions for this week's Green Thumb corner.

Lawn laws

For the purposes of lawn maintenance and care, the growing season from April through August may be divided into three main periods. The division of the growing season is not exact, so maintenance practices may overlap. Lawns and lawn problems differ considerably. Not all lawns have the same problems. It is important to know your soil type and have it tested for nutrients.

The maintenance practices suggested in this article are for a typical Kentucky bluegrass lawn in full sun, with a Kentucky bluegrass-red fescue mixture in shaded areas, on a loam soil. It is also assumed that a medium to high visual quality is required.

April - May

Raking - A vigorous raking with a leaf rake, as soon as the turf is dry, enough to walk on, will remove any creeping bent grass and rough bluegrass stolens. It will also help dry the lawn, and reduce snowmold fungus activity.

Thatch control - Thatch consists of a tightly intermingled layer of living and dead stems, leaves, and roots, that develop at the soil surface. Thatch causes grass plants to develop above the soil surface. Vigorous hand raking in mid-to-late April, is effective for thatch removal in small areas. However, for larger areas, mechanical removal is more practical.

Rolling - Turf areas seeded the previous fall should be rolled to press the grass plants back into the soil. Rolling can also be used to level the lawn, but it may cause unacceptable compaction on fine-textured soils.

Fertilization - Apply a complete fertilizer of a 4:1:2 (N:P:K) ratio with a fast-release nitrogen carrier (water-soluble nitrogen) at a rate of 0.5 kilograms actual nitrogen per 100 square metres (1 pound N/1000 square feet). Nitrogen provides early shoot growth and green color and should not be applied earlier than mid-April.

Weed Control - Annual

A lot of people enjoy old fashioned slot machines as I do, and some even saved them over the years. Perhaps you have one at your home, or at your club, or know where some might be. I'm a slot machine collector and I pay good money for them, no matter what condition. WRITE: Russ White 39 Parkcrest Dr., P.H. 2 Scarborough, Ont. OR CALL 416-278-3275.

grass weeds, such as crabgrass, can be controlled with a pre-emergent herbicide, such as Bensulide or dacthal, applied late April. Broadleaf weed control is most effective in mid-September. However, annual broadleaf weeds, such as prostrate knotweed, and weeds which were missed the previous fall, should be treated with a 2,4-D mixture in early to mid-May.

Mowing - Mow at a height of four centimetres (1 1/2 inches), once every 10 days, until late May. For heavy - shade areas, delay mowing as long as possible or until the turf has grown to a height of 10 centimetres (4 inches). Then mow no lower than 6 to 7 centimetres (2 1/2 inches). Do not remove more than 40 percent of the leaf blade during mowing.

Cultivation - Fine-textured, poorly-drained soils and areas of concentrated foot traffic may require coring or slicing. A compacted soil condition restricts water and air movement within the soil, resulting in a shallow root system and reduced quality. In small areas, cultivation can be accomplished with a fork. A mechanical aerating machine is required for large areas.

Renovation - Resodding is much better than seeding at this time of year. Spring sown seed is slow to germinate because of low soil temperatures. The seedlings do not grow well because of intense weed competition.

Disease - the main disease of home lawns in spring is leaf spot. Definite, dark, purplish-red spots appear on the leaf blades. It is important to control the disease at this stage. If environmental conditions favor disease development (cool, cloudy weather, high nitrogen, frequent low mowing), root and stem rot will develop in June. To control this disease, apply a fungicide, such as Daconil or Dryene, raise the mowing height, and reduce the mowing frequency for several weeks.

June and July

These are the months to enjoy your lawn. Under normal conditions, lawns should require little more than mowing and irrigation.

Fertility - In early June, apply a complete fertilizer of a 4:1:2 ratio with the nitrogen (N) in the slow-release (water-insoluble) form at a rate of 0.8 kilograms N per 100 square metres (1 1/2 pound N/100 square feet). To determine the amount of actual nitrogen in the fertilizer, divide the first number (i.e. 16-4-8 fertilizer) into 100. For example, 100 divided by 16 is approximately 6, so 6 pounds of the actual fertilizer material is applied to 1000 square feet of lawn surface.

Insects - Watch for buff-colored moths flying over the lawn in a zig-zag pattern. The moths lay eggs as they fly over the turf. The larvae from these eggs are the destructive sod webworm which destroy lawns in September. The larvae live in silken tunnels in the thatch at the soil surface during the day. At night, they cut off the grass blades at the crown. Control with an insecticide, such as diazinon or sevin.

Fusarium blight - This fungus disease causes most damage when periods of high temperature and humidity follow a drought period. Treat with a systemic, such as benomyl, in late July.

Systemic fungicides are applied to the soil as a drench, or by turning on the sprinkler for 20 minutes after spraying the fungicide on the grass foliage.

Chinch bugs - These insects are most destructive in August, but are large enough to be found in the turf in late July. Treat with an insecticide, such as diazinon, in late July, to prevent lawn injury in August.

Irrigation - Water lawns at the rate of 2 to 3 centimetres (1 inch) per week.

August

August is the best month for establishing lawns by seed. If seeded mid-August, seeds will germinate in early September under very favorable growing conditions. Sod growers attempt to seed as many of their fields as possible in mid-August to achieve optimum establishment.

Renovation - This procedure can transform thin, poor quality turf with a high weed population into a thick, weed-free lawn. This is accomplished without complete tillage, and generally involves killing the existing turf and weeds with a contact herbicide, such as glyphosate, and overseeding with a disc-overseeder. Renovation should be carried out if selective weed control is not practical; the lawn contains weedy grasses that cannot be selectively controlled; less than 40 percent of the lawn is composed of desirable perennial turf grasses; and if the soil root zone is favorable for turf growth.

The lawn can safely be overseeded within seven days of treatment with glyphosate (Roundup) applied at a rate of 1.68 kilograms per hectare in 90 to 135 litres of water (1 1/2 to 2 pounds (active) per acre in 20 to 30 gallons of water).

Irrigation - Water at a rate of 2 to 3 centimetres (1 inch) per week.

Disease - The two most common diseases on home lawns in August are Fusarium blight and dollarspot. Treat with a systemic, such as Benomyl.

Most folks who live at Hyland Crest

Say they fare the very best: The food is good, the staff sublime

There's something doing all the time.

There's volleyball and different games,

Something for both the men and dames.

Then there's movies on T.V. Never a dull moment, don't you see.

It's nice we have a place like this,

Where we can go to reminisce.

When our joints get stiff and our backs get sore

We can't "cut the mustard any more".

I think perhaps, in a year or so For I am getting old you know, I'll pack my bags and join the rest, And go and live at Hyland Crest.

Please don't be shocked, this love affair Is not as it appears.

You see, the delivery man and I Have been married seven years.

Lines from Lutterworth by Jean Lacey

Hi! Had a lovely weekend again. Hope it is even better for the Easter Blessed Holidays. I want to take this opportunity to wish everyone a Very Happy Easter. Here is my Easter card to you.

Easter Morning

by Gertie S. P. Howard
Night was a starless mystic thing; Three crosses marked the sky; The nightingale forgot to sing, A crystal stream went sorrowing by, And hills re-echoed, "Crucify!"

Dawn tiptoed from the shrouding gloom With awed, excited tread-- Whispered to trees, woke garden bloom, Said to the songster, "Lift your head; Say to the world, "He is not dead!"

"Come see the place wherein He lay!" Brook Kedron's silver voice Takes up the song, "He lives today!" He, Whom for love, made death His choice." O world redeemed, rejoice! Rejoice!

Very pleased to hear Mrs. Mary Oster has recuperated from her knee injury and can now walk up and down the stairs.

Mrs. Bedlington is recuperating from her bout of illness and may be able to spend her birthday with her family here on the 28th of April.

We have some new residents in Lutterworth Township. Linda and John Pentney have bought Sherdon Kellett's house on highway No. 121.

We wish Jeanne Bowron a very Happy Birthday for Sunday, April 12th. Jeanne was treated to a birthday supper on Saturday evening given by Ken and Heather Bowron. Guests were Bert and Ada Bowron from Kinmount, Kevin, Ruby and baby Ross Bowron.

Lisa and Anne Dunsford went to a baby shower for Pam Dunsford. The shower was held by a niece, Diane Hagerman. Each guest attended as a nursery rhyme character and had to say the rhyme that she portrayed. A very good time was had by all and Pam received some very lovely gifts for the soon to be new arrival.

I always have the last word in our house...even if I have to go into another room to say it.

Clare Wright was up visiting with his family last week.

Tuesday evening, Ken and Jeanne Bowron travelled to Pefferlaw to visit with Jeanne's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Westgarth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bacon visited with the Bowrons on Sunday.

Heather Bowron visited with Collette Hudson at Mountain Lake.

KID'S KORNER
Well Kids I hope you have a good Easter. You know you are real lucky, you go to school 4 days this week and 4 days next week. I hope you have a good holiday and don't eat too much candy that the Easter Bunny leaves or you will be sick.

HIS BUNNY
by Marilyn Jean Fais

Poor, grey bunny-- Once you were white,

But Jimmy drags you all around, And sleeps with you at night.

He drags you to his sandbox, And holds you in his crib, And sits you in his high chair To use you for a bib.

Poor, grey bunny-- With one eye gone - how sad - With one ear slightly turned askew, But, bunny, aren't you glad

That out of all the things he has, Of every single toy, You'd get to be the favorite one Of such a precious boy!

If you found ten cents in one pants pocket and twenty cents in the other, what would you have?

Somebody else's pants on.

What did the baby porcupine say to the cactus? "Is that you, Mama?"

What color is a ghost? Boo.

What is the cure for insomnia? A good nights sleep.

How can you tell a happy motorcyclist?

By the bugs in his teeth

What pill do you take to get way out?

A space capsule

What rides on a motorcycle and eats cotton?

Evil Boll Weevil

If King Midas sat on gold, who sat on silver?

The Lone Ranger

If you throw a red ball into the blue Danube, what will it become?

Wet

Did all the animals on the ark come in pairs? No, the worms came in apples

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.

That's Life

When you're looking for ways to protect your family, think of permanent life insurance. It's one of the most unselfish things you'll ever buy. You don't buy it just for yourself. You buy it because there are others who need you as much as you need them. That's life.

So when you're looking for life insurance... think of me.
